Introduction

Christian Periodical Index provides access to English language articles and reviews written from an evangelical perspective. It currently indexes over 140 selected publications (1976-present) from a broad spectrum of knowledge including science, literature, medicine, music, philosophy, history, sociology, nursing, and education. The coverage is representative of the major doctrinal positions within evangelical Christianity. This database is published quarterly by the Association of Christian Librarians.

Access

Go to library.bju.edu and click on Online Resources.

Searching

1. Click on tab for “Databases, Alphabetical.”
2. Choose Christian Periodical Index database from the list under “C”.
3. Key your Search term in the first box and click “Search.”

A search for Christian Day Schools returns a list of 82 hits. To narrow the search, add another search term or click on a subject from the list. Opt for choices in the left side bar to limit the results to Full text articles or a more recent date range.

When the article is not available full text within the database, check the record for “Notes: This title is held locally” meaning that the Periodical Room has the title.

Be sure to check the periodical title in A to Z for presence in other databases.
If the library has the journal, go to the Periodical Room and ask for help in locating the article. Be sure to take the citation information with you (author, title, volume, issue, etc.). If you cannot find the journal in the catalog, search A to Z Electronic Journals in the Online Databases. If the library does not subscribe to the journal, go to the information desk in the Reference section of the library and ask for help in locating the article through another database or through Interlibrary Loan.
